

練習 五十

☞ 下列各句裡，不是多出一個不必要的字即是少了一個必要的字，請把多出的刪去，少了的補進去。

1. I asked him that what was the matter with him.
2. He is an honest man that he will not accept a bribe.
3. You ought to read only such books as you can understand them.
4. The hotel we stayed at it was both cheap and comfortable.
5. I think that is no use your coming over here again.
6. There is no one but he hopes to be happy.
7. He opened his lips as if say something.
8. I believe she loves me much and she will marry me.
9. It was such a big house that I found easily.
10. You did wrong in that because you kept the matter from me.
11. Hardly we sat down when she burst into tears.
12. It is not till we come to have children of our own we know our debt to our parents.
13. There are few of us admire his ability.
14. It doesn't matter much whether you are rich or poor; what it matters is whether you are honest or not.
15. I take that he is not a Chinese.
16. Except he speaks a little too fast, he is a perfect teacher.
17. This man, all the world honors, was once a poor plough boy.
18. That is good cannot be done too soon.
19. Do not trust such men as they praise you to your face.
20. She is not she was five years ago.
21. We never quarrel now as we did as when boys.